espiritu tri. Free serial number. Series 74. In a major blow to 'American Freedom' the Iranian president has issued an unusual pro-western, anti-Tehran broadcast in which he denounced the US in the wake of their botched attempt to kill the Islamic Republic's top military man. Iran's president, Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, in an interview with Ukraine's Privat TV network, denounced the execution of senior Iranian general Qassem Soleimani last week as "not in line with international law". The Iranian leader's remarks to the audience in western Ukraine appear to be the first time Iran's president has explicitly argued against the US and its allies in a major speech since the failed drone attack in Baghdad on January 3. Iran's Foreign Ministry later said Ahmadinejad's remarks on Sunday were "irresponsible" and "unacceptable". Ahmadinejad, wearing a black hat and the white head scarf of a fundamentalist Twelver Shia Muslim, made no mention of the deadly drone attack on Friday which killed 25 people, including eight Americans, as he unveiled a statue of Iran's first president, Hassan-Ali-Rasool-Ali. In his 12-minute broadcast, the Iranian president called on US President Donald Trump to "come and sit at the negotiating table and solve the issues of the region together". But Ahmadinejad went on to warn: "Your repeated assassinations of the representative of Islam's beloved Imam in the region, the martyr Qassem Soleimani, and the destroyer of the terrorist network of the US and their regional clients can only add fuel to the fire of war." There was no immediate comment from Trump or his administration. Iran has already pulled out of a nuclear deal negotiated in 2015 under the presidency of Barack Obama. The US has increasingly targeted Tehran, imposing crippling sanctions and even pushing some of its allies to break relations with the Iranian regime. Ahmadinejad has repeatedly accused the United States of seeking to destroy the Islamic Republic and it is highly unlikely the president is now going to suddenly speak out in support of Tehran or make concessions to the US. He also warned that Iran would not allow the destruction of a mosque in the Iraqi capital Baghdad after
