The In Style label as well as many other..The poet Arthur Rimbaud believed himself to be a naturalist before he became a revolutionary. In The Drunken Boat (1873), a novel of street life and revelry, he had taken the liberty to fictionalize his experiences as a journalist and entertainer, infusing his writing with his impassioned protest against the enslavement of the masses. It was when he became an artist that his words became truly unique: the slogans of violence, misery and death became creations of poetry. Portraits by Paul Demay and Jean-Louis Raffy have been issued posthumously, but the great original paintings stand alone. For the first time, the most beautiful paintings by Arthur Rimbaud have come back to life. Michel Leiris, a professor at the Sorbonne and the author of The Lady and the Unicorn (1957), and the scientist and author Henri Blurton-Crevel have done a sensational feat. My question is: Is there any way to make this point to the controller/function which is actually associated with that URL? e.g. In this scenario I would expect that a function from the application/a/controller/activity.php file would be called, this way I am able to open the requested page. Hope my question is clear. I am new to CodeIgniter and I guess the syntax is wrong. Thank you in advance. A: There are several options: Pass the argument from the URL, either directly (as part of a GET request) or indirectly (as part of a POST request). The latter seems to be the most desirable way, as it's the standard and cleanest way of doing it. Pass the argument as part of the method name in the method definition. (This is the "proper" way of doing it, but it's not exactly "clean".) Include the argument as part of the URI segments. If you're using CodeIgniter's Router class, it will take care of creating the correct segments for you. (This is, admittedly, a bit kludgy.) Generally, I'd suggest option 4. This allows you to pass any number of arguments, but makes sense for what you're trying to do d0c515b9f4
